

Cash so low state unable to meet bills, says Lindberg

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois is so short of cash that it cannot pay its bills, state Comptroller George W. Lindberg Jr. declared today.

"We have bottomed out of our cash reserves—they are gone," Lindberg told a news conference Friday. "Last night the state could not pay its bills. It's just that simple."

Lindberg, a Republican, urged state legislators to drop their plans to override Democratic Gov. Daniel Walker's massive veto of state aid to schools and, instead, "dig in our heels" to combat the cash drain.

"I strongly urge the Illinois legislature not to override any of Gov. Dan Walker's spending vetoes when it reconvenes Oct. 22," Lindberg said.

Noting that $97 million in school aid money is due for payment next week, Lindberg declared: "We have several days to accumulate $97 million plus the regular sums needed to pay our bills on a daily basis."

The comptroller said that cash reserves in the general fund on this morning totaled $498,310. He said the state pays out some $40 million on an average day.

Although Walker has said that there is no cash crisis Lindberg disclosed that the governor's office within the last 24 hours asked him to return some 10,000 vouchers, representing about $7 million in payments, for further review.

An aide to Lindberg said the state was unable to approve payment of $1.6 million in pay checks for state employees Thursday night but will be able to get the checks to the agencies on payday Wednesday by making special arrangements. The aide said there would be no payless payday next week but "we're right on the verge of it."

Lindberg's top fiscal adviser, Dr. Robert Mandeville, also acknowledged that while the governor was telling newsmen that no crisis exists, Walker's chief budget experts were meeting in Mandeville's office to seek some way to ease the problem.

"It was all conducted on a high professional plane," said Mandeville, considered by many to be the most knowledgeable budget analyst in the state.

Mandeville said he had urged the governor's aides to get on an airplane and fly from Springfield to Chicago to collect $37 million in welfare reimbursements due from the federal government, fly the money back to the state capital and deposit it in the general revenue fund.

"I understand that they now are going to do this," he said.

'Crazy Olympics' to kick off homecoming

Would you like to see Honey gunnysack race or maybe a balloon cart race? If these don't appeal to you there is a tricycle relay race, doughnut derby or maybe you like to watch the pie-in-the-sky or scrambled egg obstacle course. Almost anything goes or will go in the "Crazy Olympics" to kick off Dixon High School Homecoming Week Monday.

The YMCA-sponsored program event will be held Monday evening at 7 p.m. on A.C. Bowers Field. Six different events have been scheduled for the competition.

Couples will participate in the honey gunnysack race. Each couple will have to untie a gunnysack, dress their partner with clothes in the sack, then race three-legged style down the field. The winning couple must put the clothes back in the sack and tie it up before the other couples finish.

For the balloon race, two members of a team participate. One person pushes the cart while the second attempts to keep the helium-filled balloons in the grocery cart. The winning team will have the most balloons in their basket at the finish line.

Three persons will be on a team for the doughnut derby. One team participant will have inner tubes stacked up to his neck and will race against the clock, down the field, with the help of the other two teammates, and then is flipped and rolled back up the field to the finish line.

The scrambled egg obstacle course consists of teams with six members. For this timed event participants will race through tires and through a series of deflecting obstacles which could cause the egg, which is carried in the mouth, to break. The team which has the most whole eggs at the end of the race will be declared the winner.

Four-member teams will participate in the pie-in-the-sky event. Team members will hurl pies over high jumps, to be caught by fellow team members and, when caught, placed on a table. The team with the most pies on their table at the gun will be declared the winner.

A three-wheeler champion team of Dixon will be named at the conclusion of the tricycle relay race. This race consists of four participants per team racing around obstacles, through tunnels and over ramps. Four teams will be racing around the track at one time.

Helping to coordinate the events along with the YMCA is Mike Fritts.

Beer garden wins okay of Dixon Park Board

By BILL SHAW

The Dixon Park Board, on a 3 to 1 tally, voted to allow the sale of beer on Park District property for the 1976 Petunia Festival. The vote came at the board's October meeting held Thursday night at Park District headquarters.

The decision to amend ordinance No. 160, which prohibited such activity, came after months of controversy. Nearly a year ago, the Park Board gave tentative approval of the amendment to 1975 Petunia Festival officials. Then, only days before this year's festival, the amendment was officially voted down, 3 to 2, when formal approval was sought.

The beer garden was held on private property near Page Park and was operated without the disturbances that some park board members feared might accompany such an attraction.

George Weigle was the only board member who changed his vote from the June decision. Weigle voted against the beer garden at that time, but stated with his no vote he would like to observe the event for the first year on other than park property, then, if successful, allow it.

Weigle told the other board member, "I conducted a survey this past month and talked with many people, some of the people borderline last summer regarding the idea. I found 90 percent of those people now approved of allowing a beer garden." Weigle indicated that this community sentiment was what changed his vote.

Jack Jordan, who cast the dissenting vote, expressed confidence in the Petunia Festival group entrusted with operating the beer garden, but maintained that the important question was the park district's function. "I am not voting for or against (Petunia Festival) people, it is a matter of park district function, should our facilities be used for this?"

Louise Corken inquired as to how security for the beer garden would be handled. John Kuster, Petunia Board President indicated that his group was planning to "double or triple" security at the 1976 beer garden, seeking help from community volunteers. Kuster also informed the park board that he hoped to have food concessions, operated by community organizations, located in the beer garden area.

The passage of the amendment by the park board makes it possible for beer to be sold on park property. The specific location and time which beer may be sold still cannot take place until a lease prescribing such details is drawn up and approved.

Such a lease, seeking the approval for sale of beer from noon to 10:30 p.m., on July 2, 3, 4, and 5 in Page Park by the Petunia Festival group, has been submitted. Official approval of that lease was postponed until legal advice could be obtained from counsel Tomas Magdich.

Monthly bills amounting to $1,875.34 were approved.

absent from last night's meeting.

The Park Board agreed that any improvements the Petunia Festival group might make in the Page Park area would become the property of the district.

In other park board business: Results of an inspection at Lowell Park by the state Department of Public Health were presented by Supt. Lloyd Swan. The department suggested that lids be placed upon trash cans and bases of wells be sealed to prevent contamination.

Swan reported a fence had been constructed by Charly Ports between his property and Highland Park. Ports was paid $100, the park district's share of the project.

Supt. of Recreation Rich Sedowski, informed the board that it would be too late to apply for a matching grant this year for construction of new tennis courts. He said a representative from the Northwest Council of Officials advised that the deadline for applications next year will be August. If such a grant were approved, the park district could construct tennis courts at Borden field, with the grant covering half of the estimated $100,000 cost. Sedowski suggested that the remaining cost could be paid by retirement of Park District non-refundable bonds.

Ford will go to France for economic summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President

French President Valery Giscard D'Estaing was an original proponent of the economic sum-

The announcement said Ford

Congressmen's mailing, PO

Citizens have to pay postage when they write their senators or representatives, but your lawmakers get free mailing privileges when they write the citizens.

Now would it be a good idea if the people could address a letter to their senator or representative and have your congressman pay the cost, from their own pocket?

It would not do me any good, for I found out long ago that the lawmaker does just the opposite of what I requested him to vote for.

I guess the only thing I can do is just the opposite of what he requests me to do. This is vote for someone else.

The above free mail for citizens is foolish. In the first place, think of the cost. The best thing for all taxpayers would be if Congress would eliminate the government monopoly and give whoever wanted to a try at delivering mail.

Give the Post Office Department the amount of money they ask for this year and say, "That's all." If you go bankrupt, close up shop, just like the people have to do when they do a poor job of running a business.

Fidel Castro's strange ways

By RONALD REAGAN

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is anxious to normalize trade and diplomatic relations with us, we are told, but he picked a funny way to prove it when he staged an international conference in Havana in September to promote the "liberation" of Puerto Rico from the United States.

Back in March, the World Peace Council, an organization controlled by the Soviet Union, called for a preliminary meeting of Marxist representatives in Cuba to discuss the matter of Puerto Rico.

The delegates to that meeting issued a call for the larger September gathering, all of which was designed to promote one Juan Mari Bras' tiny Puerto Rican Socialist Party.

The "call" was the usual Marxist harangue: "The people of the world must redouble their efforts to defeat in Puerto Rico the promoters of crime in Vietnam, Chile, Palestine and other places, so that the liberation of the Puerto Rican people will signify a new victory in the cause of freedom . . ."

It is always ironic to see representatives of the Soviet Union joining in denunciations of "imperialism" by the United States, since the USSR holds the world championship for imperialism.

All this led to the September "international conference on solidarity with Puerto Rico's independence" in Havana. Some 300 delegates attended, including a smattering of U.S. Communist Party functionaries.

The object of their affection, and of the superheated rhetoric that flowed from the three-day conference, is an "open" movement for Puerto Rican independence that is about as popular there as ants at a picnic. The issue of independence versus continuation of the commonwealth status of the island was put to a vote of its people just eight years ago. Out of more than 700,000 votes cast, fewer than 1 per cent voted for independence. This, of course, hasn't deterred Mari Bras or the terrorists of the Fuerzas Armadas de Liberacion Nacional (FALN).

The FALN has claimed it bombed New York's historic Fraunces tavern last January. Five people died in that bombing. According to the FBI, the FALN leadership got its training in sabotage in Cuba. Sounds like the "old" Castro Cuba which routinely exported guerrilla warfare and violence all over the hemisphere.

The fine hand of the Soviet Union in all this mischief isn't hard to see. A Russian actually served as a vice chairman of the Havana conference, and the Soviets' puppet World Peace Council appears to have provided the over-all strategy for the propaganda service. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger took a properly dim view of the proceedings. He said the "meeting in Havana can only be considered by us as an unfriendly act."

Castro's best-known U.S. fan recently has been Sen. George McGovern. His wife, Eleanor, who visited Cuba with him a few months ago, said of the bearded dictator: "The most impressive thing about Fidel is his mind. The breadth, depth and width of his knowledge is enormous. Fidel knows the specifics of everything."

If that's so, perhaps he can grasp the idea that he can't have things both ways. He can't have normal trade and relations with the United States and, at the same time, be the Western distributor for Soviet Marxism. Indeed, if he wants the former, one of the points we must insist on is that he deny the Soviets base and landing rights on Cuba and that he guarantee in writing that he'll stop training guerrillas for revolutionary export around the Western Hemisphere.

Russia is probably stronger in the Middle East today than it was before the signing of the Sinai accord. Stronger not strong. The limits of its influence were highlighted by its total omission from the actual negotiation of the Sinai deal. But this very omission could work to Russia's advantage if, as seems likely, the Sinai agreement leads to nothing beyond its own implementation.

From the moment it was initiated, the lack of solid commitment to an eventual settlement in the Middle East was the one large shortcoming in Henry Kissinger's otherwise helpful new Sinai pact. The Russians do not have to labor to undermine the "Pax Americana" (as Israel's Yitzhak Rabin has called it); their is the happy job of sitting back, holding up clean hands and noting the deal's self-evident deficiencies.

They are helped by Rabin, Israel's prime minister, who has gone out of his way to repeat the official Israeli view that the Golan area is too small to allow for an interim deal with Syria and that his government is not ready, under any circumstances, to talk to the Palestine Liberation Organization or to consider the establishment of a Palestinian state between Israel and Jordan. Given such implacable Israeli ice-blocks on the prospects for the next stage, the Russians, too, can afford to be cool: Syrian and Palestinian apprehensions are being relayed in the Soviet press, so are the Vietnam-haunted fears of Americans aghast at the stationing of American observers at the center of the Sinai stage.

When Kissinger began his latest round of peace-making, back in February, he was careful to consult, or at least inform, his Soviet opposite number, Andrei Gromyko. This courtesy was signally lacking from the last stages of negotiation. Any pretense of a Russian backing for America's efforts broke down when the Russians, co-chairmen with the Americans of the barely-existent

Geneva peace conference, taking their cue from radical Arab rhetoric against the Sinai pact, boycotted the signing ceremony in Geneva on Sept. 4.

The Americans, basking in the triumph of getting Israeli and Egyptian initials on the same bits of paper, had clearly not thought this might happen; Kissinger's representative was ready and waiting to sign until the flurried decision that it would look better if the Americans too stayed away. Kissinger, who will be meeting Gromyko when the U.N. General Assembly gets underway, has expressed his rather bland expectation that the Russians will be prevailed upon to drop their objections to the role of the American observers. That is far from certain; the Russians may well find it expedient to retain their reservations both about the observers and the rest of the deal.

They will have nothing to lose by doing that. The Soviet Union's two overriding interests in the Middle East are: first, to maintain and extend its influence; second, to do so without endangering its detente with the United States. If Russia emerged as the wrecker of the Sinai deal, detente might be given another wobble reflected in, say, the coming talks on mutual and balanced force reductions. But who said anything about wrecking? All the Soviet Union has to do is to provide its radical Arab friends with tea, sympathy and guns, shake its head sadly and wait for the next Arab-Israeli crisis.

Or maybe help the crisis along a bit. Russia does not care if President Sadat of Egypt lashes out, as he did on Sept. 4, angrily shouting that Russia was trying to divide the Arab nation. The Russians are used to Sadat's abuse; a little more does not make much difference. For the time being the Soviet Union has to write off an Egyptian leader who insists that "at least 99 per cent of the cards in this game, if not all of them, are in American hands." But no country that is interested in having a say in the Arab world can write off Egypt.

indefinitely; that was the West's mistake in the old Dulles days of the 1950s.

The question is whether Russia helps isolate Egypt in the Arab world with or without giving a fillip to those Arabs who want a change in Egypt's leadership.

Loyal followers of Sadat have few doubts. There have already been claims that Russia in unholy alliance with Libya is conspiring left, right and center (well, perhaps not center but it is a rich field for researchers into right-left melting pots). Maybe, say Egyptians, Libya, mighty armed by the Soviet Union, has designs on Egypt's western desert (which sounds nonsense).

More to the point, perhaps, is the resurgence of Egypt's own Communist party. Egyptian Communists, harshly repressed by Nasser, dissolved their never-very-strong party in 1964 on orders from Moscow. A couple of months ago they announced that their party was alive and well in Beirut (life all political parties, save the Arab Socialist Union, it is banned in Egypt); recently a party spokesman condemned the Sinai deal as a consolidation of Israeli occupation and a renunciation of both Egypt's sovereignty and its commitment to its Arab allies.

The Soviet Union will encourage discontent with the agreement; it is unlikely to encourage militancy. The caution of its Middle Eastern policy is fed both by its knowledge that the Arabs cannot defeat Israel soon and by its determination to avoid a confrontation with America. Its former interest in keeping the area on the boil was gradually overtaken by the calculation that maybe peace was the better, and safer, bet after all. And its ideas about the shape this peace should take are not far out of line with the consensus which believes that the packet must include Israel's withdrawal from the land conquered in 1967, a Palestinian state in the West Bank and Gaza, and solid guarantees for Israel's continued existence.

Gun owners' alert

Gun owners alert! Unholster your pens! Get ready! Fire those letters of protest to our alleged public servants! It seems those fellows are extremely persistent!

National Spotlight of Oct. 1 alerts us to a situation not yet publicized by the media in general, in which the Subcommittee on Crime of the House Judiciary Committee has been reviewing more proposed gun legislation.

Ranking minority member, Rep. Bob McClory, R-Ill., urged the subcommittee to vote on his measure without additional review!

Subcommittee Chairman Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., has a bill which would prohibit the importation, manufacture, sale, purchase, transfer, receipt, possession or transportation of all handguns. Owners would be required to turn in their weapons; their reward: a tax credit. Anyone not complying would be subject to a fine of $5,000 and/or five years' imprisonment. Each weapon not turned in would be a separate violation of the proposed law!

The McClory bill consists of the following 15 points:

1. Close up about 75 per cent of all firearms dealers in America.

2. Require the registration of the sale of all firearms sold by federally licensed dealers.

3. Ban from legal sale or resale about 75 per cent of all handguns now in the hands of Americans.

4. Require that anyone transporting a firearm make it secure from theft.

5. Require a waiting time of 30 days before any handgun can be sold to a U.S. citizen.

6. Prevent the repair of any handgun unless the handgun owner can prove lawful possession of the weapon.

7. Require police approval before the purchase of a firearm outside local jurisdiction, even in the same state.

8. Require that all states set up handguns owner registration systems.

9. Require that all handgun owners get a Federal identification card. Each person would be investigated by the federal government before such a card is issued. The card would cost $15 and be valid for five years, and every time the holder of the card changed his address, he would be required to report to the federal government.

10. Require that the sale of all handguns from one citizen to another be approved by the state government before the sale can be made.

11. Make it against the law not to report lost or stolen weapons.

12. If no state system of handgun registration is enacted, owners register their weapons with the federal government.

13. Find that all provisions in state constitutions dealing with the right to keep and bear arms are unlawful, and that only the federal government may say who may have a firearm. The states may continue to say who may NOT have a firearm, but can not say who may have one.

14. Provide federal funds to states willing to restrict the sale of firearms. Any state wanting federal funds to help control crime would have to enact the proposed law.

15. Make illegal the sale of any handgun with a barrel less than four inches long.

When asked if his bill would only drive the sale of handguns into illegal markets, McClory retorted "we've gotta start someplace."

Rex Davis, director of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, has informed the subcommittee that, of the 1.8 million handguns manufactured in the U.S. during 1974, some 1.02 million, or 53.9 per cent would have been prohibited from importation by the definition of existing law.

Time's a wasting, people, let's get on the ball (point pen, that is).

Sincerely,

Verle K. Weigant

No thank you

At first glance, the letter in The Telegraph on Sept. 31 in the Voice of the People column, might have seemed local to some but two words got to me, "cheated" and "martyred."

I resent her calling John F. Kennedy or his supporters "cheats." We all know who the cheats are.

And to equate John Kennedy to any part of this ridiculous game being played here is about as amusing as Patrick Ward equating his possible second term in office to a "political dynasty."

As far as having the writer weed my garden—her idea of weeds leaves something to be desired.

No thank you,

John Fischer

Hollywood is a popular subject with authors

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)— Every day, or so it seems, a new book about the old days in Hollywood is published. Some are good, some passable. Some sell well, others are quickly forgotten. But good, passable, best sellers, worst sellers, they keep coming.

Why this sudden fascination with the way things were?

"Hollywood books have a special fascination," says Charles Higham, who is making a career out of writing them. "People, and I think they are mostly women, like to live vicariously the lives the stars led, or to identify with them."

Higham's latest book, "Kate," is the story of Katherine Hepburn.

Gerold Frank, whose latest is "Judy," another in the continuing series of books about Judy Garland, believes today's rash of Hollywood books started with the release of "That's Entertainment," the film that made nostalgia a way of life.

"That's Entertainment," he says, "gave the thing a tremendous push. That plus the miserable state of the world today. People want to look back to a better world, where good always rewarded and evil is punished."

Hugh Fordin disagrees. Fordin has written "The World of Entertainment," the story of the Arthur Freed unit at MGM which turned out musical after musical during that big studio's halcyon days.

"It's not purely nostalgic," Fordin says. "Even with 'That's Entertainment,' it wasn't purely nostalgic. The kids are seeing it and reading the books and they're too young to be nostalgic about a period they didn't live through."

"I see it as a yen to have been part of Hollywood's greatest era."

Samuel Marx has written "Mayer and Thalberg," the story of the two men who ran MGM. And Marx, who was MGM's story editor during much of those glory years, says that the public is still intrigued with that era, which accounts, he believes, for the steady streams of books about it.

"Hollywood books are here to stay," Marx says, "because the public likes to read about the stars and the stars' lives."

Marx's book is the exception, in that he is writing from personal experience. He knew Mayer and Thalberg and writes from first-hand knowledge. Most of the others are written by men and women who research their subjects, after the fact.

Another exception is Juliet Benita Colman's biography of her father, "Ronald Colman." She says she worked on it for five years.

"I started," she says, "because I wanted to get to know him. After all, he died when I was 13, so I didn't really know him then. The fact that the book was published was icing on the cake."

Now that she has written a book—something, she says, she always wanted to do—she plans to do more writing.

She and her husband, photo-realistic Jim Toland, live in Majorca and London, but she says her promotional tour of the U.S. for her book has "reawakened all my Americanism," and now they are thinking of living here half the year.

Marx says he had originally planned on doing his Mayer-Thalberg dual biography years ago.

"But," he says, "then Bosley Crowther's biography of Mayer came out. It was very one-sided—he had apparently only talked to people who hated Mayer. So I started to do my book again, but then Bob Thomas's biography on Thalberg came out. I thought it was dreadful, full of inaccuracies. So I started again, and this time I'm telling all."

Marx and his friend, actress Jan Clayton, are now working on a dual biography of Rodgers and Hart.

Marx says he finds a lot of younger people are reading his book. He says a neighbor's teen-age son—who hadn't even heard of Thalberg—read it and enjoyed it.

LIVELY SUBJECTS of very successful books on Hollywood stars and legends are Kate Hepburn (left) and the late Judy Garland.

terial"

He knows exactly how many pages, because it cost him a dollar a page to get transcribed, and the total bill was $19,287.

To get the feel of the MGM musicals, Fordin saw five of the old Freed unit musicals a day, five days a week, for nine weeks.

"I wanted to see every film I was going to write about," he says. "It made me wish I had been part of that time, that era."

The real triumph of Jaws' hero

By IRA BERKOW

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The night, nearly 20 years ago, that Roy Scheider graduated from Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., could have been one of the happiest of his father's life.

"That was the night I told him I was not going on to law school and that I wanted to be an actor," recalls Scheider. "It shattered a dream of his. The law profession was a third-generation American's idea of 'making it,' especially for someone like dad who has scratched through life running a gas station."

The fey, ne'er-do-well stereotype of an actor was not what Roy Scheider had in mind. And it has only been recently, particularly with the explosive success of "Jaws," that Roy Scheider's father has finally quit hoping and asking, "Roy, I know you like this acting, but don't you think maybe you could go to law school evenings?"

When Roy heard that he had been nominated in 1971 for an Oscar as a supporting actor in "The French Connection," he called his parents. He spoke to his mother who shared his excitement. She called to her husband (Roy B., the son is Roy R.) and exclaimed the news. When Scheider hung up, he realized that his father never came to the phone to congratulate him.

Scheider recalled this now at a small table near the corned beef cutter of a midtown Manhattan delicatessen. He spread butter over a cheese pastry, cut it into eighths and began to eat each piece with a fork.

Because of his starring role as Chief Brody in "Jaws," Scheider's face has become a very recognizable one in the country. He had in fact, earlier that day been at the center of a mob scene at Bloomingdale's department store where a crowd gathered while he bought a radiator cover.

Scheider's face combines the craggy nose of a welterweight pug with the smooth, dark skin of a beach boy. Yet there is an integrity in his looks — which helped make his character in "Jaws" so appealing that fellow actor George C. Scott has said "Scheider is the best thing in the film."

"All my life," said the 39-year-old Scheider, "My father and I have disagreed on most things. But he's still my father and I have always wanted his approval. And rarely gotten it.

"He always thought I was too independent, too rebellious. In other words, I didn't listen to everything he told me to do. I guess this is hard for a stubborn German to take from a son. But while I can't understand his feelings about some things, I still admire him for others.

"For example, he thinks the only thing Nixon did wrong was to get caught. Imagine that! And yet this comes from a man so puritanically honest that during World War Two, when all the gas stations around our home in Union City, N.J., were getting rich selling black market, Dad refused to do anything illegal — and in fact gave free gas to the servicemen.

"'Jaws,' in an indirect way — and maybe in a direct way, too, helped me deal with the problem. I was away from my family, my wife and daughter, and my parents, from May of 1974 to about November. I had a lot of time to think. I realized my family — all of them — was the most important thing in my life. I knew I had to do something, then, about my father and me.

"In a way, too, it was like

Chief Brody handling his dilemma of whether to close the beaches at this resort town — and risk the tourist business — or leave them open and risk a shark attack.

"The character was a little too namby-pamby for me at the beginning, too indecisive. I was chomping at the bit. But the director, Steve Spielberg, said, 'Mollify, mollify.' He even put glasses on me to soften the role.

"Well, when it was all done and I came home, I was talking with my wife, Cynthia. She asked if I hated my father, and if I thought he hated me. I said 'no, neither.' It's just that both of us were so stubborn. I decided to be the weaker and go to him. In that way my weakness would be my strength.

"He has had two strokes in the last two years. I didn't want him to die without knowing how I felt. And I didn't want him to die without knowing how he felt.

"I told him, 'What I want more than anything else is your respect, your recognition and that I want you to be proud of me. Mom tells me now how you brag about me to people. But I want to hear it from you, from your mouth, and see it from your eyes. You have hurt me. And I wanted you to know the pain I've felt. Because I love you.'

Conflicting statistics hide true state of economy

By JOHN CUNNIFFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Trying to understand the messages that are being emitted by the U.S. economy today is as difficult as deciphering an electronically scrambled telephone call.

The economic signals are scrambled too, and all you need do for verification is to read some of the forecasts being made by the esteemed economists for banks, businesses, government and consulting services.

In all of these reports, "if" becomes a mighty word. Qualifications are sprinkled throughout every paragraph. Writers caution readers against taking too literally what they have just written.

The greatest confusion seems to result from signals that show at one and the same time that the economic recovery is under way and that so also is the beginning of the next recession or the deepening of the present one.

New doctor for Rochelle

DR. E. B. JOHNSON

The conflict becomes clear when you realize that the index of leading indicators has now gained an astonishing 11.5 percent since its trough in January of this year.

This, the First National City Bank notes, "is the fastest increase on record for the first five months of any recovery since 1958."

Now look at consumer and wholesale prices. They're rising, and sharply, and that means a drag on sales. Companies that have geared up for an expanding economy could find themselves once again with big inventories.

Indeed, domestic demand for goods and services remains sluggish. A good deal of the expansion during the second quarter of the year resulted from exports. There has been no burst in retail sales.

At the same time, interest rates are rising, and if the past experience is a criterion that's like throwing water on a fire.

Nowhere is the dampening effect more pronounced than in the housing markets. Lenders have money, but they don't want to part with it. And if they do commit themselves, they want almost impossible terms.

Mortgage rates for apartments and shopping centers showed their sharpest increase in a year during August, the Advance Mortgage Corp. reports.

Advance Mortgage, which keeps a running index on interest rates throughout the country, found that the general mortgage rate for apartment house construction was 10 percent, almost prohibitively high.

Moreover, some lenders show a preference for refinancing existing apartment houses rather than committing their funds to new construction. What does it mean? That they can't read the signals with confidence.

America waits for the unscrambled signals but it isn't getting them. Government, academia, the consumer, business — they're all listening, listening to themselves, in effect, and remaining confused.

Recipe winner announced

Mrs. Charles Keigwin of Walnut is one of 62 area winners in the 25th Anniversary Recipe Contest sponsored by Heinold Hog Markets.

Mrs. Keigwin's recipe for Swedish Ham Balls in Brown Sauce was selected from over 2,000 entries. She will receive a $25 check for her recipe and it will be published in the Heinold Hog Markets' Bicentennial Pork Recipe Book, to be released later this year.

The recipe contest was held to mark the 25th anniversary of Heinold Hog Markets and to help stimulate the pork industry through greater consumption of its products.

Com Ed retires 54-year-old station

More than 46,119,000 kilowatt hours of electricity—enough to supply all the residential customers in northern Illinois at the present level for about three years—were produced by Commonwealth Edison Company's Calumet generating station before its retirement this month. The shutdown was due mainly to the diminishing availability of natural gas for boiler fuel, marking the end of almost 54 years of power production at Calumet.

Those years saw Calumet grow from a single 30,000-kilowatt generating unit in 1921 to a full complement of seven units by 1947 with a total generating capacity of 294,500 kilowatts.

Calumet Station's growth follows closely Chicago's own development, especially the expansion of the Calumet industrial area. Output at the station grew rapidly after completion of the first six units in 1923 until the depression era when the station was used only for emergency generation. Regular production was resumed in 1935 as the economy slowly moved ahead, and output continued to grow through the war years.

The "golden age" of Calumet, though, was the post-war industrial boom period from 1947 to 1957 when the station produced more than a billion kilowatthours annually to help power the steel mills, manufacturing plants and other industries in the Calumet area.

Output at the now-aging station gradually tapered off, however, with units 1 and 2 retired in 1963, followed by units 3 and 4 in 1969, and two more in 1970. Shutdown of the station was completed Sept. 8 when the 107,000-kilowatt unit 7 was taken off-line for the last time.

Located on about 50 acres adjacent to the Calumet River, Calumet Station recorded many "firsts" during its more than half-century of power production. Among them were: the treatment of feed water for boilers; wide stokers; over-fire air in furnaces; air pre-heaters for combustion air; all-steel tube economizers; gas-firing and pulverized coal firing; and the development of the fan tail burner which became known as the "Calumet burner."

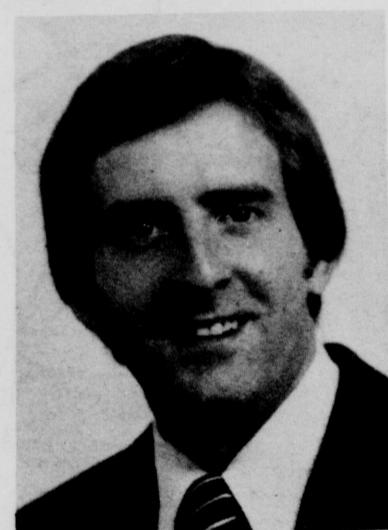

In addition, Calumet was the first generating station in the United States to install a cyclone furnace—a pioneering step followed by many other electric utilities. The station also was used for a two-year research study on the prevention of boiler explosions which resulted in several new concepts of boiler design, operation and life-off techniques.

Calumet also was a front runner in anti-pollution controls having one of the first boilers to use a flue gas washer. And to provide higher and wider dispersion of gases into the air, five stacks at the station were extended between 1946 and 1950. These same stacks were dismantled in 1970 after the boilers were retired.

Also as part of Edison's environmental program, unit 7 was fully converted from coal- to natural gas-firing.

FALL FACES THE ORIENT WITH CHINOISERIE MAKEUP
Chinese influences are showing up in the fall fashion collections.

Whatever the interpretation, there is a new fascination in the fashion world with anything Oriental, be it Chinese, Mongolian or Tibetan.

We need the makeup to go with these fashions. Keep the foundation pale and lots of color high on the cheeks. Keep the eyes dark and smokey and outline both top and bottom lids with a dark pencil. Outline the mouth with one of Elizabeth Arden's coloring pencils before applying lipstick.

Colors for the Chinese look should be refined distillations of lacquer reds, greens and yellows that China is famous for.

Hair is straight, smooth and sleek, cropped just at the chin line.

Straight bangs are cut long enough to just touch the brows and focus attention.

Chinoiserie By Day: In soft, subtle monotonies. This season is the moment for women to enjoy the romance and charm of applying makeup beautifully and using makeup tools such as lip liners. A lip pencil, a makeup sponge and a palette of soft muted colors are the three ingredients a woman shouldn't be without for fall '75.

Tone the complexion in Elizabeth Arden's Hushed Rose and warm cheeks with Fresh Ginger flawless finish sponge-on cheek rouge. Eyes are toned with Cocoa Pecan eye shadow, outlined with Dark Brown coloring pencil. Lips are outlined with Brick creative coloring pencil and filled in with Toasty Maple Cream lip color. The nails are colored with New Bourbon Street Salon Formula nail lacquer.

Chinoiserie By Night: A pale complexion in Ivory Beige, Bitter Burgundy cream rouge on cheek bones.

The eyes should be soft and mysterious. Use Fresh Fern eye shadow, soft Mint Green on lid, outline entire eye with a smudgy soft Black coloring pencil. The mouth outlined with the Cardinal coloring pencil and filled in with Wine Country lasting cream lip color.

The cosmetics are from Elizabeth Arden and found at the Cosmetic Dept. at Kline's. Drop in and see pictures of the way you can look this fall and winter—very beautiful and ravishing.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: In the movie, "Jaws," how big is the mechanical shark (size, weight)? ERIC CRAGIN, Oneida, N.Y.

Bruce, as the "Jaws" folks called their mechanical contraption, was a one-ton, 25-foot long gizmo. It required a 12-ton platform, sunk some 12 feet beneath the surface of the ocean, and a crew of 15 to make it work.

DEAR DICK: My mom, sister and I have been puzzled about what the initials S.W.A.T. stand for. M. GLASIER, Lethbridge, Alta., Can.

Puzzle no more. S.W.A.T. are the initials and have become the acronym, for Special Weapons And Tactics, a police department section in Los Angeles and some other large cities charged with control of hostage situations.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me who was the man on The $64,000 Question? I believe you'd call him the "host." He was the man that asked the questions. Also, did Mogen David wine sponsor the show? MRS. J. H. Pittsville, Wis.

The late Hal March was the master of ceremonies, or host, or whatever, on that newsmaking quiz show. For most of its run, Revlon was the sponsor.

DEAR DICK: I was just wondering if that lady of the Folger's coffee commercial, Mrs. Olsen, is Susan Olsen's mom because they both have the same last name. DENNIS CAPOBIANCO, Jeffersonville, Pa.

Mrs. Olsen isn't really Mrs. Olsen. That's just the name of the part she's playing. Her real name is Virginia Christine, so it's obvious she can't be Susan Olsen's mom, unless Susan Olsen is playing a part, too.

DEAR DICK: I see that there is going to be a TV movie on soon called "Gable and Lombard." What I want to know is this: do they dare keep Miss Lombard's spicy language in or are they going to leave it out? CARLA ZIMMERMAN, Kinston, N.C.

In the first place, the "Gable and Lombard" movie isn't a TV movie, it's a regular movie for theaters. So what you call Carole Lombard's "spicy" language will probably be retained. In the second place, what was considered "spicy" in Carole's day would probably be pretty mild today.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me if Robert York, the star of the 1975 TV movie, "The Specialists," and Robert Urich of S.W.A.T. are the same person. They look like twins. Also could you please tell me how old Dick Powell and Debbie Reynolds were when they made the '54 movie, "Susan Slept Here." MRS. A. A. ANDERSON, Steubenville, O.

Yes, Robert Urich changed his name for that one film, then changed it back again. As to your second question, Debbie was a slip of a girl, just 22, and Dick was 50 when they made "Susan Slept Here."

DEAR DICK: Will you please tell me if Gail Russell was the girl in the movie, "Wake of the Red Witch." ROSE BUSH, Mobile, Ala.

Yes, she was the leading lady of that '49 rouser.

DEAR DICK: I was wondering how come they took the series, Movin' On, off TV? Also how come they don't have any more western shows, like Big Valley and The Virginian? EILEEN JO JUHASZ, Del Bonita, Alta., Can.

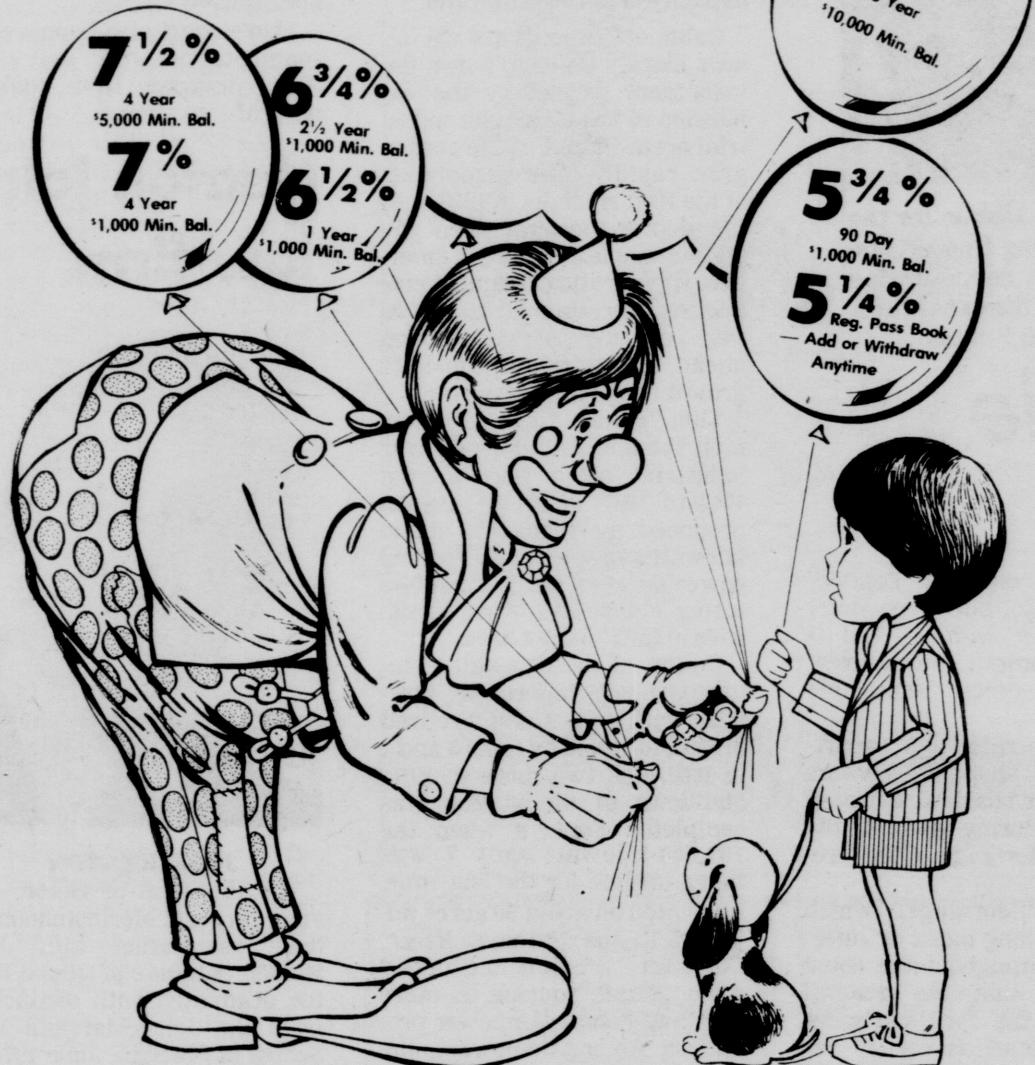

Movin' On isn't off network TV, but it's possible it has been dropped by your local station. About westerns, TV fare runs in cycles. For a while, westerns were hot. Just now, they're cold. Wait a few years, they'll be back again.

DEAR DICK: Is Carol Burnett married to Harvey Korman or is she single or what? And is Gilligan and them ever going to get off the island? DEBORAH THOMPSON, Theodore, Ala.

Carol Burnett is married, but not to Korman. She is the wife of Joe Hamilton, who produces her show. Gilligan and them are stuck on the island in perpetuity. The show finished filming years ago, and they never wrote a show where they were rescued.

Hollywood not keeping pace with women's lib

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Like it or not, says Warren Farrell, the traditional roles of men and women are changing. But Hollywood isn't changing as fast as the rest of the world. Farrell is the author of "The Liberated Man," a book about how men have to change their way of living. It isn't, as you might expect from the title, an anti-Women's Lib book. Instead, it attempts to prove that men and women, living and working together, must both be free to accept each other as coequals.

But he says that Hollywood's movie and television products are still clinging to the traditional portraits of men and women.

"According to Hollywood," Farrell says, "man is the adventurer, the breadwinner, the rock. And woman is the stay-at-home, the dependant one."

He says that all TV's dramatic hours feature a man at work, doing the deeds of derring-do. Even Police Woman, which nominally has Angie Dickinson as its leading character, fits the mold. Whenever Angie gets in trouble, she backs off and lets Earl Holliman step in with reinforcements to bail her out.

And the situation comedies are just as bad, Farrell says. There are some exceptions, but generally there is a husband and a wife and the role here are the same as they have always been. He calls it the "I Love Lucy" syndrome.

"A man should be free,"

JANE FONDA: Another self-centered movie star?

Farrell says, "to give up his job, if necessary, if his wife has a better one and is transferred. I did that when my wife was named a White House Fellow."

He says that Hollywood's private lives are as bad in influencing the public as are its products.

"The stars," he says, "all seem to be self-centered and that makes interpersonal relationships very difficult."

He says he once sat next to Jane Fonda at an affair and Miss Fonda was a woman he had previously admired. But he found that all she did was talk about herself so his admiration evaporated.

Oliver signed to NBC

Susan Oliver has been signed, after a four-month search, to take over the role of Dr. Laura Horton on "Days of Our Lives," the daytime drama series on NBC (Mondays-Fridays, 12:30-1:30 p.m.).

Oliver, scheduled to make her debut in the series Oct. 10, replaces Susan Flannery who left the program last May.

The signing of Oliver has put "a superb actress" into "a most important role," said Lin Bolen, vice president, Daytime Programs, NBC-TV. "This is one of the most important and long-running roles in the show. We have been testing for several months because we were not prepared to settle for anything less than a superb actress who could bring something important to the role."

This marks Oliver's debut on daytime television and a new turn in a full career embracing stage, movies and nighttime TV.

Priscilla Garcia signs exclusive NBC contract

Because her brother gained weight and her mother had no baby sitter, Priscilla Garcia became an actress.

The National Broadcasting Company has signed Garcia, an actress and dancer, to an exclusive contract, it was announced by Al Trescony, Vice President, Talen, NBC.

Priscilla's brother, David, had done some acting, and one day, since no baby sitter was available, Priscilla went with her mother and David to an audition. Because David had gained weight, he was refused a role, but the casting people liked Priscilla and gave her a small part in "Chief Crazy Horse" as the daughter of the character played by Victor Mature.

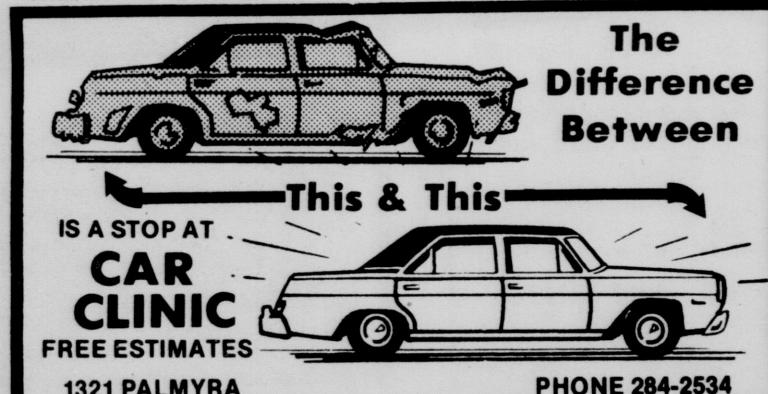

A native of East Los Angeles, Calif., Priscilla studied drama at East Los Angeles Junior College when she was 13, the youngest pupil ever to be ad-

Mexican stations complement each other

NEW YORK (AP) — Televisa, Mexico's four-network commercial TV company, is a unique operation by U.S. standards. For one thing, only one cops and robbers show is allowed each night on any network.

For another, none of the Mexico City-based company's channels are programmed to compete against each other, says Miguel Aleman Jr., Televisa's executive vice-president.

Instead, he says, they try to complement each other with "horizontal" programming, letting viewers see on one channel what they might have missed on another channel the same night.

For example, a Mexican cultural program might be on one channel in the same hour a variety show is on another. But the cultural show would appear later that night on the second channel.

It's a far cry from the years before 1973, when Televisa was created through a merger of two companies — Telesistema Mexico, operating channels two, four and five, and Independent Mexican Television, operating channel eight.

"When we had the competition, the tone of the programs was going down, becoming vulgar and cheap," says Aleman, in town last week for an industry salute to Televisa executives.

"We were killing each other, fighting for ratings and not giving a damn about the public," added Fernando Azcarraga, Televisa's operations director, the man in charge of all its programming.

They said the two companies grew so concerned about the video blight they formed Televisa, which Aleman calls a "permitted (by the government) monopoly" to do something about the situation.

"FIRE!"
One starts every 45 seconds

A fire breaks out in an American home every 45 seconds.

Tragically, many families who have fires in their homes don't have adequate homeowners insurance.

Maybe their insurance was fine a few years back. But building costs have gone up more than 50 per cent in the last few years. So has the value of many homes.

Make sure your insurance covers your home and everything in it at today's higher prices.

Review your insurance with your Country Companies agent. There's a good chance he can save you some money with coverage from Country Mutual.

Nielsen ratings show ABC is having its best year ratings.

Now, it says the change won't be made because "Beacon Hill" last week posted a slight rise in ratings and the network is encouraged.

Howard Cosell's well-publicized Saturday night variety show has suffered a similar fate in its three weeks on the air.

On the brighter side, last week's 20 most popular shows, according to Nielsen estimates, were "All in the Family."

Cloris Leachman and Lisa Gerritsen star in the CBS comedy series "Phyllis." The new show appears to have met with the approval of TV audiences so far this year.

Another troubled-girl role for Linda Blair

NEW YORK (AP) — Linda Blair giggled when asked, "How many stories about you start out, 'Linda Blair looked devilish....'"

"Pretty many," said the 17-year-old actress, who achieved instant stardom in 1973 when she portrayed a 12-year-old lass possessed by demons in "The Exorcist."

At the moment, she appeared somewhat possessed by the wearies, having done four interviews earlier that day in the hotel suite she and her mother occupied while visiting Fun City.

So we refrained from further questions on devilish matters.

Miss Blair, a short, genial young lady with a cherubic face, was in town from her home in Westport, Conn., to drumbeat for "Sweet Hostage," a TV movie ABC will lay on the nation this Friday night.

In it, she plays a young woman whom the ABC handout says is "kidnapped by an escaped mental patient" and "let into a strange world where her abductor becomes her teacher, friend and lover...."

Mercy, the things that girl gets into.

After "The Exorcist," she made a TV movie, "Sarah T: Portrait of a Teen-age Alcoholic," where she played a teen drunk. Then came another TV movie, "Born Innocent," in which she played a teen-age delinquent who was sexually abused by other girls in jail with her.

Networks seek live audiences

NEW YORK (AP) — Want to be on the laugh track in "Barney Miller" or tell the neighbors it's your "ooh" they heard on "Gambit"? No problem. Networks need and welcome live audiences for 39 shows now on the air.

And they say you'll find it easy in most cases to get free tickets for the 17 daytime game shows and 22 nighttime situation comedies or variety shows currently appearing on CBS, NBC and ABC.

But you'll have to visit Los Angeles to see most of them personally.

Only two now come from New York, both on ABC. They're the "$10,000 Pyramid," an easy ticket, and Howard Cosell's live variety show, which ABC calls a "hot-ticket" program, meaning ducats are scarce.

In Los Angeles, CBS has 12 nighttime programs and five daytime game shows taped before live audiences. In those respective categories, the count at NBC is five and six, while it's four and five at ABC.

Aside from the fans who write in for tickets to their favorite shows, is it getting tougher for networks to find audiences for the programs from among residents of Los Angeles and tourists visiting there?

Network officials say it's no harder than in past years. The degree of difficulty still varies according to the time of year, the hour a show is taped and whether the program is well-known to viewers.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Oct. 10, the 283rd day of 1975. There are 82 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1911, Chinese revolutionaries under Dr. Sun
Yat-sen overthrew the Manchu
Dynasty in China.

On this date:
In 680, the grandson of Mohammed was murdered in Iraq.

In 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. was opened.

In 1913, the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans flowed together in the Panama Canal as the Panama dam was blown up.

In 1938, Nazi Germany completed the occupation of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

In 1963, an 873-foot-high dam collapsed near Belluno, Italy, and a flood killed an estimated 1,800 persons.

In 1973, Spiro Agnew resigned as Vice President under an agreement with the Justice Department to admit evasion of federal income taxes but avoid imprisonment.

Ten years ago: The fighting in South Vietnam was rapidly gaining momentum, and a force of 10,000 South Vietnamese troops launched a drive against its enemies in Binh Phuoc Province.

Five years ago: Two masked men armed with sub-machine guns kidnaped Quebec's Minister of Labor and Immigration, Pierre Laporte, from his front yard.

One year ago: Harold Wilson's Liberal Party won a narrow majority in Britain's House of Commons in a national election.

Today's birthdays: Actress
Helen Hayes is 75 years old.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you're likely to be swayed by the words of others. Analyze carefully the advice and its source before you follow it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
This is definitely not the day to attempt a do-it-yourself project. Sore thumbs and frayed tempers will result.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Don't be too open-handed today and lend something not yours without first consulting the owner. It would be a breach of faith and friendship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Be sure your mate has a voice in decisions affecting the family today. If he or she doesn't and something goes awry, you'll never hear the end of it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
There will be several tasks you don't enjoy doing staring you in the face today. The small ones you will do begrudgingly. The major ones you won't even attempt.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Resist the temptation to take financial risks. Leave your checkbook at home if you're heading for the racetrack or the bingo parlor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Your family is going to find you very difficult to please today. That's because you're going to tell them to do one thing and expect something else.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Even though you're going to find the perfect opening, don't repeat what was told to you in confidence. The person will learn you've spilled the beans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.
21) If you've earmarked money for the weekend's fun, stick to the budget. Dig into other funds and you'll have trouble paying it back later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.
19) Button your lip if you feel like saying a few choice words to the boss today. He may not be all that bright, but he's always the boss.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Steer clear of political or philosophical debates today.
Feathers will get ruffled that will be hard to smooth back into place.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Friends may try to impose on you today. Be on guard if you're with a person who's not normally reticent about asking for favors anyway.

Memorable visit to Japan for girl, 13

By FRANCES MacKINNON

AMBOY — Traveling more than 12,000 miles, having an audience with the governor of Tokyo, Japan, and a visit with the mayor of Mari-Ku, Japan, were all part of the exciting experiences of Kathy Hobbs this summer.

Kathy, 13, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hobbs and a member of the Bits and Spurs 4-H Club, was selected early this year to be one of 67 Illinois 4-H Club members to be part of the five-week Labo Cultural Exchange Program.

Following her acceptance, there was a series of orientation meetings held every other Saturday at Libertyville. This was briefing on culture and customs of Japan, language helps and problems in math to help become accustomed to the money.

Each person was assigned to a specific Japanese family who had indicated they wished to entertain a student in their home.

Kathy was assigned to the Hashimoto family, Nerima-Ku, Tokyo. This family had three children, ages 13, 9 and 7. A grandmother and an aunt were also members of the household.

The Illinois 4-H'ers and a similar group from Minnesota left O'Hare International Airport on July 22 and flew to Japan, making a refueling stop in Anchorage, Alaska.

"It was all very exciting," Kathy recalls, "but when it was announced at our first stop at the Olympic Center that I had been chosen one of 10 members of the group to have an audience with the governor of Tokyo, I was thrilled beyond words."

She continued, "We had gifts from Governor Walker to present to the Governor. However, when we arrived the governor was busy and the vice governor received us. Before we were ushered in to see him, we had to participate in a tea ceremony, which indicated that we were officially welcomed. The gift I presented from Governor Walker was a Lincoln Head tie pin. The vice governor in turn presented each of us with a key chain with a large key which he told us represented the key to the city, and a book about the Tokyo area.

"We also received gifts to carry back to Governor Walker."

Kathy was one of three persons selected to visit the Mayor of Mari-Ku, where they were given an alcoholic drink of fermented milk, and had to drink it not to offend anyone, before they could talk to the mayor.

In commenting on her family life there, Kathy said, "I became very fond of them and they made me feel welcome. Different families live differently the same as here. My adopted family were quiet and didn't do much traveling although they had a car and a truck."

"I think the Japanese children live more sheltered lives, as the 13-year-old daughter was still playing with dolls and was not allowed to go to town alone."

"The children have a month of vacation from school, but that didn't mean that they didn't have to study because there was homework of history, math and the English language. We went to Labo meetings a couple of times a week, this was for all young people and there was tapes of American music and British type English. Refreshments of cookies and pop were served."

When asked about food they ate, Kathy reported that when she first went to her "family" they were serving her steak and other American foods, but one day when she accompanied them to the department store to buy food and saw that steak was about $10 a pound, she requested they not buy her special food as she would eat what the family did. They went to a different department where live octopus were swimming around in a tank and picked out one. The clerk stabbed it and pushed it into a sack. They took it home and ate it raw with soy sauce.

A lot of fish is served three times a day. Vegetables are plentiful, are not as well-cooked as we do in the United States, and served just warm or cold. Never hot. Chicken is often on the menu, but they are smaller than chickens served here. Kathy introduced her family to fired chicken and to putting butter, salt and pepper on the ears of corn. They liked it very well. Although the family frowned on putting milk and sugar on the rice.

Kathy liked the country, people and customs so much that she would like to return for a longer visit sometime. The people were very friendly and everyone she met presented her with some small token to bring home as a memento of her trip.

She is looking forward to having a friend, Ukiko Kuguchi, come to Amboy for a visit next year.

Gambling on plan to cut welfare costs

By SKIP WOLLENBERG
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

Illinois Department of Public Aid officials are gambling once again on a plan to curb rising welfare costs.

Director James Trainor said the targets of the new plan are those hospitals and medical clinics which he says "are charging the state an excessive amount of money for services" for welfare recipients.

In an announcement earlier this week, he said rates paid to the more than 200 hospitals and 55 to 60 medical clinics which treat welfare recipients would be frozen at Oct. 6 levels.

New regulations for future payments have also been drafted and forwarded to the federal government for approval.

The proposed guidelines were vigorously criticized at a news conference by officials of the Illinois Hospital Association.

IHA President Robert O'Leary said he had been told they were designed to roll back payments to some facilities. Cuts in payments, he said, would force some hospitals which do the major part of their work with welfare patients to choose between raising rates for non-welfare patients, cutting services or shutting down.

The scenario in some respects resembles the controversy which erupted in August when Trainor announced fees for pharmacists would be cut.

Gov. Daniel Walker trimmed some $50 million from the Department of Public Aid's request for some $828 million for medical payments.

Trainor froze rates paid to nursing homes on July 1, which he said would save some $17.5 million.

In a recent interview, Trainor said the slice in pharmacists fees was designed to save $4 million.

Pharmacists had been paid an average fee of $2.12 per prescription, under a plan which linked the size of the fee and the size of the wholesale cost of the drug. The department announced as of Aug. 1 that fee would be $1.75 per prescription, regardless of cost.

Dozens of pharmacists protested the new fee wouldn't permit them to continue dispensing drugs to welfare recipients without substantial losses, and some threatened to refuse service to persons who couldn't pay cash for their purchases of prescriptions. An East St. Louis citizen's group told department officials in late August that only two drug stores in the city were providing welfare recipients with prescription medicine, and that many sick people were unable to stand in the long lines which resulted in these stores.

The department relented twice after announcing the $1.75 fee, raising it first to $1.85 and then to $2.05.

Trainor froze rates paid to nursing homes on July 1, which he said would save some $17.5 million.

In a recent interview, Trainor said the slice in pharmacists fees was designed to save $4 million.

Trainor said the initial 10 cent increase was permitted because pharmacists "questioned the figures we used to arrive at the $1.75 fee." "It was our feeling that by raising the fee by a dime, we might get at some of the concerns they had," he said.

He said representatives of a pharmacists group then deleted results of a survey it had taken.

"Their data was not very good, it was not very scientific. But it was our conviction that we are not here to put anybody out of business," he said.

Trainor said he felt "the most equitable thing we could do" was to raise the fee by another 20 cents to $2.05 per prescription and hire an independent consultant to study the costs pharmacists must incur to stay in business.

He said the study has not yet begun, and no consultant has yet been hired.

There is a similarity in the response to the two plans.

Both pharmacists and the IHA said lower fees for welfare treatment would force prices up for non-welfare customers.

But there is a major difference in the mechanics of the two fee adjustment plans.

The pharmacy plan was an across-the-board cut for every pharmacist for a welfare patient.

The hospital and medical clinic plan would involve creation of a review board appointed by Trainor to screen rate hike requests.

Increases in rates for some hospitals would be permitted if the board found the requests reasonable, Trainor said, while other requests would be denied if the board found the facility's costs failed to justify the increase.

Trainor said the original fee revision plans for pharmacists and for hospitals and medical clinics were developed by the department staff without public hearings.

He said he did not feel he could make the changes with "the willing and timely cooperation" of the groups affected.

"Timeliness is a key element," he said. "In order to effect the changes we are talking about, these actions have to be taken as quickly as you can do it. The longer you wait, the deeper the cuts will have to be."

He said he is uncertain whether the department can save money with the hospital fee plan, but that he hopes it will "encourage better hospital management." The scaled-down pharmacists' fee plan will save $1.5 million to $2 million, Trainor said.

He refused to disclose other cost-saving steps which the department plans to take in an effort to save the balance of the $50 million cut from the medical payments budget. He said announcements on these steps would be made later.

"I think the hospital procedures represent a reasonable approach. It's not a punitive approach. We are just asking each hospital to justify to a board whether they have costs which would merit a rate increase," Trainor said.

Pan-American Games
More than 30 western-hemisphere nations are expected to participate in the 7th Pan-American Games, scheduled to start Sunday in Mexico's capital city. The Games' executive committee, pictured here, has faced a number of problems in organizing this year's event. The 1975 Pan-American Games originally were to take place in Santiago, Chile. But after a military revolt ousted Chile's Allende regime in 1973, the Games were rescheduled in Sao Paulo, Brazil. Then a meningitis epidemic in Brazil threatened to cancel this year's Games entirely, until Mexico offered the use of its 1968 Olympic Games facilities for the two-week-long sports event.

Lottery winner is revived with oxygen

CHICAGO (AP) — When David Tucker learned he was the $300,000 winner in the Illinois State Lottery, his euphoria grew so intense that he "got kind of woozy" and had to be revived with oxygen and smelling salts.

A lottery spokesman said Thursday was the first time in 14 months of weekly drawings that the official lottery nurse had to be called upon to give aid.

Tucker, a cook at Cook County Hospital, excitedly darted from his seat, lost his glasses and bumped into chairs when lottery officials called out his name. Once on the stage, he gave his daughters, brother and other well-wishers prolonged embraces. He was speechless and decidedly stunned.

After the Chicago regained his composure somewhat, he said he would give $500 to a church in San Diego, Calif., "where I was born and raised."

But Tucker also said he would "buy them (his family) a

If the total is 7, the player wins two free tickets from the ticket seller. If the total is 11, the ticket seller pays the player $5. A total of 21 means a $10,000 prize for the player.

Lottery officials say the odd in the new game are better for the player than in either of the others. They say one out of six tickets will be a winner and one out of 27 will carry a cash prize. Based on a sale of 80 million tickets, though, that also means 77 million tickets will provide no money for their holders.

In an additional game, the stub of each ticket bears a red square covering a single letter. The player scratches off the square and saves the stub, hoping eventually to have enough stubs to spell out "seven" for a prize of $100 dollars, "eleven" for $1,000 or "twenty-one" for $10,000.

Each ticket in the new game bears four red circles—each covering a number. Ticket holders will scratch away the which does NOT say we are entitled to free food stamps, medical care, or even happiness unless we EARN them!

Pagan Roman Senators, however, attempted to buy votes by furnishing free wheat and wine, as well as circuses and other "welfare," so it soon crumbled!

History shows that without God, no nation can long endure! But how can 3-year-olds like Laura see God in their churches?

A striking difference between Roman Catholics and Protestants is the presence of Catholic crucifixes vs. empty Protestant crosses.

Protestants prefer the empty cross to indicate Christ's "mission accomplished," namely, His conquest of death, instead of His agonizing death.

But children lack the adult mental age that permits them to understand an invisible Presence in church.

Even the two-dimensional pictures of Christ or God or Moses, thus lack the credibility

Many challenging sermons could be evolved from Laura's terse indictment of our modern churches.

How can we make toddlers, as well as teen-agers and oldsters, vividly realize that God and Jesus are in the churches?

Maybe our furnishing ecclesiastical free "food stamps" to small foreign nations or our religious clamor for Uncle Sam to deliver free medical care and satisfy all other earthly physical needs for shelter, clothing and even modern plumbing, is stressing secondary things!

Don't even the communists also offer those name enticements to their own people and to the "heathen" neighbors whose oil they crave?

Atheistic sociology professors here in America are advocating those same luxurious standards of living, without even mentioning God!

Yet our Founding Fathers, in that famous Declaration of Independence, proclaimed that we are "... endowed by our Creator with certain unalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

God was thus brought into that immortal pronouncement, of statuary, which is three-dimensional.

Christmas thus means much to youngsters because of the jolly Santa Claus (who symbolizes God to them).

Alas, Easter, the high point of the Christian calendar, is remembered by toddlers chiefly as an Easter bunny and a colored egg hunt but without God!

Since children (and illiterate nations) require a visible and tangible evidence of God, how are we faithful church folks going to meet their need?

Discuss it in Sunday School, for how can millions of toddlers believe the church is God's home when they say He is never home when they visit His house?

An estimated 700 persons were in line when tickets went on sale Wednesday for 5,000 seats for the Jethro Tull concert scheduled in the Northern Illinois University Fieldhouse at DeKalb Thursday. The first person in line arrived early Monday morning, and by late Monday there were 500 lined up—most of them spending two nights sleeping on the ground outside the NIU Holmes Student Center. Those in line were able to have others take their places periodically as long as someone answered for them during frequent roll calls.

Three cottages at DDC to be renovated

SPRINGFIELD — As part of Governor Walker's humanization program, three cottages at the Dixon Developmental Center will be completely remodeled to conform to the state's humanization guidelines.

The Capital Development Board today released $269,984 in additional funds for the $1.8 million project when plans for remodeling a fourth cottage had to be scrapped because of high bids.

Starting with a homeroom at 7:15 p.m., parents will meet briefly with homeroom teachers and then follow the schedule of their sons and daughters on shortened basis. Classes will run 10 minutes each during which time teachers will introduce themselves, explain their classes, display student work, and answer general questions regarding courses.

James J. Moynihan, acting director of the CDB said: "This is one of more than 60 projects completed or under construction utilizing the humanization guidelines. Illinois is the first state to have developed the concept of humanization, and it will be a very satisfying thing to see the efforts of many people being brought into reality.

"Of course, the real benefit will be to those persons who will receive better care because of this program. We are grateful to the Department of Mental Health for their contributions toward this humanization effort, and we are looking forward to expanding the program to include other institutions as well," he said.

The firms of W. Bernbrock, Moline, and A. Epstein, Chicago, are the architects for the project. Completion is scheduled for October of 1976.

in awareness that hunger stalks our world and we are in a better position to do something about it than almost anyone else."

When asked about the overall aims of the CROP Hunger Walk, the Rev. Mr. Rodd said, "We want to raise as much money as possible to meet severe emergency needs of starving people and with seeds, tools, and technical assistance channeled through the very effective church relief agencies help people help themselves."

Observing that CROP has supplied foodstuffs and commodities to hungry people in 30 countries since 1947, the Rev. Mr. Rodd said meeting the needs of starving people is a community responsibility. "At the beginning, grains and other commodities were solicited directly from farmers. When that became too complicated, farmers gave funds that purchased commodities for shipping overseas. At the present, though many farmers still supply funds and grain, our main thrust for CROP in Lee County is the Walk for the Hungry."

Organized in the fall of 1974, the CROP Hunger Walk committee is composed of adults and youth from the Dixon-Amboy-Franklin Grove areas. Otto Dick of the Dixon High School faculty, is recruitment task force chairperson in Dixon—assisted by several high school youth. The Rev. Henry Holverson, Mrs. Betty Shaw, and Wayne Wubbena of the Cooperative Extension Service, along with several young people, are providing leadership for the Amboy end of the walk. In the Franklin Grove area the Rev. Bob Roller, Mrs. Peter Rasmussen, Mrs. Willard Simpson, and a large number of young people have organized the walk program. Mrs. Duane Butterbaugh of Dixon and Miss Kathy Augustine, of the Cooperative Extension Service, with youth assistance, have served as the arrangements task force. 4-H Clubs, church youth leaders and many others have worked in the planning. High schools have served as recruitment centers for the walk.

CROP is the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service—an interdenominational agency through which major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions carry on cooperative, worldwide programs of service to the hungry, homeless and disaster-stricken. Sponsors of walkers may designate their gifts to other relief agencies and CROP, without cost, will forward the funds to the specific agencies such as Catholic Relief Services, Lutheran World Relief, World Relief Commission of the National Association of Evangelicals, CARE, Project HOPE and others.

Dixon walkers will assemble at 1 p.m. at the Production Credit Association building parking lot on Route 52 for their walk to the 4-H Center. Franklin Grove walkers will begin at the Soil Conservation Service building on Route 52. At the conclusion of the walk refreshments donated and served by the Lee County Young Home-makers Association with assistance from several grocers will be served to walkers. All walkers will be insured.

In the event of bad weather, the alternate walk date will be Oct. 26. David Harris, Dixon National Bank, is overall finance chairman. In Franklin Grove Larry Blocher of the Franklin Grove Bank will receive funds. Galen Martin of the Amboy Bank will handle finances in Amboy. After all collections are made by walkers, an accounting will be made to the communities.

LET FAITH BE YOUR LIGHT IN THE ROADWAY

In the eternal conflict between light and darkness, remember that light is a positive force, while darkness is merely the absence of light, without power of its own. Therefore, it takes but a small amount of light to carry you through the darkest hours of your life; if faith is the source of it. By living one day at a time, you will allow this ray of light to cast its protective beam far enough ahead on the roadway to guide your footsteps. Then follow it to Church, where you will learn to walk in the light of faith and banish the darkness forever.

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."
—Psalms 119:105

It is better to light one little candle than to curse the darkness.

Anderson switches pitchers because of wall

By HAL BOCK

AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds get their first look at Fenway Park and its famous — or is that infamous? — left field wall today on the eve of baseball's 1975 World Series.

The best known fence in baseball is 315 feet down the left field line and looms 37 feet high. It makes right-handed hitters positively drool and more than one left-handed pitcher has been swallowed up by it. On Thursday, it even caused a controversy in the camp of the usually placid Reds.

"Sure I'm upset," snapped Norman, who won 12 games during the regular season and also captured the second game of the playoffs against Pittsburgh. "I think I'm one of the guys who got us here."

Anderson explained his choice of Billingham saying, "We want a right-hand pitcher in that ball park."

Norman didn't hide his anger at the decision. "I've been pitching against right-hand hitters all my life and I don't think that's a problem," he said.

The Reds, however, think Gullett, another left-hander, will provide plenty of problems for the Red Sox, the close-in fence notwithstanding.

"We haven't seen their wall and those guys haven't seen something like Don Gullett in a long time," warned Pete Rose, the Reds' peppery leadoff batter.

Gullett will oppose herky-jerky Luis Tiant, the man with a million motions, some of which the Reds think may be balk moves.

Anderson was angry at a report that he had sent films of Tiant's move to the National League offices. "That is a total lie," he said. But Anderson said he would seek a clarification of the balk rule in the preseries meeting with the umpires.

"I want it thoroughly discussed and I want it decided what is a balk and what isn't. I have nothing against Tiant. But I say if he isn't balkin', let's forget about balks. You might as well throw the book out."

In question is Tiant's habit of pitching from a stretch position that includes a series of semi-stops. Anderson said he wants "a legitimate stop."

Fred Fleig, supervisor of National League umpires, said "we know all about Tiant." He said the umpire would be concerned with three things.

"The first is the slow step-by-step drop of his hands," said Fleig. "He has to throw the ball somewhere after the final set. Once he sets, he can't then drop his hands below the belt."

"Second, his rhythm in the way he drops his hands has to be constant and after everybody in the American League complained, he's been all right there."

Tiant, however, anticipates no problem.

"He can say what he wants. I don't let it bother me," the veteran right-hander said.

Johnson said Wise will start the third game of the series Tuesday night in Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. Cleveland will move to the Boston bullpen for the first three games.

"Wise is a high ball pitcher and should do better in their big ball park and on their artificial turf," said Johnson.

The manager must have been checking the past performance charts on that selection. Wise pitched a no-hitter against the Reds in Riverfront in 1971 and two years later carried another no-hitter into the ninth inning at Riverfront before surrendering Cincinnati's only hit in that game to Joe Morgan.

Bruins miss Orr in opening defeat

By The Associated Press

Once again, the Boston Bruins have dropped their National Hockey League season opener, this time to Montreal, and a member of the opposition offered an ominous summation of the reasons for their loss.

"They miss (Bobby) Orr," said Pete Mahovlich, after the Montreal Canadiens' 9-4 rout of the Bruins Thursday night. "He must be worth four goals to them."

How true. Unfortunately, the absence of Boston's ace defenseman, recovering from knee surgery and not expected back before November, wasn't the only shortcoming.

Montreal dropped a five-goal bomb on rookie goalie Dave Reese in the second period, two by Mahovlich.

"You can't blame Reese," Boston Coach Don Cherry insisted afterward. "It was a typical Bruins-Montreal game, only at home we always used to win. After that fourth goal, we fell apart."

It was the second straight triumph for the Canadiens, who blanked Los Angeles 9-0 Wednesday night.

In other NHL action Thursday night, the Buffalo Sabres started their season at home by blanking the Detroit Red Wings 4-0, while the Philadelphia Flyers debuted with a 5-4 triumph over the Washington Capitals.

Sabres 4, Red Wings 0

Detroit goalie Jim Rutherford was the star of the game despite the loss, making 41 saves in the face of a relentless Buffalo barrage.

The Sabres took 23 shots on goal in the first period, scoring only one on a power play goal by Rene Robert at 5:10. They opened a 2-0 lead in the second period when Jim Lorentz scored. In the third period, Danny Gare scored, assisted by Don Luce, who added the final tally at 17:09.

Buffalo Coach Floyd Smith was impressed with Rutherford. "He had a helluva game," he conceded. So did Sabres' goaltender Roger Crozier, who recorded his 30th NHL career shutout, stopping 18 Detroit shots.

Flyers 5, Capitals 4

The Flyers won, but Coach Fred Shero was furious.

"We're lucky to get two points out of that game," said Shero after the Stanley Cup champion's victory over the league's lowest-ranked team last season. "We didn't follow our system all night long. We gave them a lot of opportunity they shouldn't have had."

Reggie Leach scored the clincher with 1:55 remaining when he poked a rebound under Washington goalie Michel Bellemare.

Travel aids Jets

By The Associated Press QUEBEC (AP) — The Winnipeg Jets would agree with the old adage that "Travel is a broadening experience."

The Jets kicked off the 1975-76 World Hockey Association season Thursday night with a 5-3 victory over the Quebec Nordiques that they attribute to a recent three-week stay in Europe.

"That trip put us on the right road," said Jets' Coach Bobby Kromm afterward. "However, we weren't at our best tonight. We gave up two bad goals in the first period and we had to come back."

A pair of goals by Ulf Nilsson paced the Jets attack, with singles added by Anders Hedberg, Ted Green and Mike Ford. Christian Bordeleau, Michel Parizeau and Marc Tardif replied for the Nordiques.

Naturally it showed up that Winnipeg played some games over there," said Nordiques Coach Jean-Guy Gendron concerning the Jets' European jaunt.

"I'll tell you, Winnipeg is going to be a serious threat for the Canadian Division title. They had a good finish last year and they started off well tonight."

Bordeleau, formerly with Winnipeg, opened the scoring with an unassisted goal at 3:39 of the opening period with Green tying it less than two minutes later.

Parizeau moved Quebec ahead 2-1 with 10:47 gone but Nilsson's first goal tied the score six minutes later and Hedberg put the Jets ahead to stay with four seconds remaining in the opening session.

Nilsson's second goal was the only scoring in the second period and Ford made it 5-2 at 9:12 of the third before Tardif got Quebec's third goal at 14:05.

Referee Peter Moffatt called 22 minutes in penalties in the game watched by 9,732 fans.

In WHA games tonight, the San Diego Mariners visit Phoenix Roadrunners, the Edmonton Oilers play host to the Minnesota Fighting Saints and the Indianapolis Racers are in Denver to challenge the Spurs.

Kenyon's Jim Myers won the national Division III receiving championship at 9.1 catches per game (he caught 82 for 1,483 yards and 12 TDs). Myers was on a record-breaking pace of 11 per game for five games until a broken leg sidelined his quarterback. His brother Chris holds the national career record of 253 catches at Kenyon, 1967-70.

Six teams still on strike as far as victories go

By HAL BOCK

AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — At a time when you should have baseball on the brain, the National Football League completes its first month of action Sunday.

It seems unfair. Baseball doesn't infringe on the Super Bowl. So football should let the World Series hold center stage.

Some NFL teams understand and have been cooperating.

Four weeks into the schedule, New England, San Diego, Cleveland, Kansas City, Green Bay and New Orleans still are seeking their first victories. They may, for all anybody knows, still be on strike.

Besides the six have-nots, there are five NFL teams operating at the other side of the ledger with perfect 3-0 records.

They are Buffalo, Dallas, Cincinnati, Oakland and Minnesota. All seem likely to continue winning this week.

Last week's record was a healthy 10-3 running the season's log to 30-9 for 763.

This week's picks:

San Francisco 17, Atlanta 7

The 49ers seem to be on the right track and scored a convincing victory over Kansas City on the road last week. Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski could make this one close.

Buffalo 30, Baltimore 10

If the Bills are this good without All-Pro defensive back Robert James and flashy wide receiver Ahmad Rashad, imagine where O.J. Simpson and Co. would be if those guys were healthy.

Detroit 14, Chicago 10

Don't be fooled by the Lions. They are fattening up on the NFL's weak sisters. But how far can they go with no passing attack? Chicago looked at re-read passer Virgil Carter this week. What does that tell you about their passing game?

Dallas 24, New York Giants 14

Tom Landry's got the young, rebuilt Cowboys believing anything is possible. And against the Giants, they're probably right.

Green Bay 13, New Orleans 3

It took the Saints three weeks to score their first touchdown. It may take them three more to score their next one. The Packers have to win one for Bart Starr pretty soon.

Houston 33, Cleveland 10

The Oilers almost kayoed

Cincinnati last week. They'll have an easier task against the winless Browns, who'll have to find a way to stop Don Hardeman if they want to keep the score respectable.

Oakland 20, Kansas City 10

Back when the Chiefs were a contender, this was one of the league's best matchups. Oakland's offense needs a healthy Ken Stabler to operate.

Los Angeles 30, San Diego 3

The Rams are about due to break out and act like the Super Bowl team everyone said they would be. This is a good week for it with the lackluster Chargers on the other side of the field.

The $30,000 race was originally scheduled for Nov. 8 but was moved back a day to avoid a conflict with college football.

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. hotel chains apparently have lost in the bidding to construct facilities for visitors to the 1980 Moscow Olympics. Business Week magazine reported in its Oct. 20 edition.

The Soviet Union was preparing this week to sign a $120 million contract with the French firm of Financial Engineers to build a 1,800-room hotel on Moscow's north side, the magazine said. The deal does not contain any long-term management arrangements, some U.S. chains insisted upon.

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Hawks have named veteran player Bob Kauffman, who was waived last week, assistant general manager.

Kauffman is a seven-year National Basketball Association veteran. The 29-year-old, 6-foot-6 center-forward was Seattle's first-round draft selection in 1968. He also played for Chicago and Buffalo before reporting to the Hawks in 1974.

BLACK HAWK won its fourth meet in succession by tallying 17 points led by Jack Lemaster's 24:29 clocking for the 4.6-mile course. Sauk Valley was second with 49 followed by Carl Sandburg 74, Highland 89 and Blackhawk East 125.

Trader was timed in 26:23 followed by Scales Mound 108, Forreston 113, Ashton 148, Stillman Valley 174, Rockton Hononegah 181, Pecatonica 217 and Rockford Lutheran 238. Stillman's Greg Grubb established a course record with a 16:51 clocking for the three miles.

CASHION, Ariz. (AP) — A.J. Foyt, Roger McCluskey of Tucson and 1974 Indianapolis winner Johnny Rutherford have entered the fall edition of the U.S. Auto Club 150-mile championship race scheduled for Nov. 9 at FasTrac International Speedway here.

The $30,000 race was originally scheduled for Nov. 8 but was moved back a day to avoid a conflict with college football.

The race will be the final event in the 1975 USAC championship trail.

ATLANTA (AP) — Defenseman Jean Lemire and right wing Ken Houston of the Atlanta Flames have been sent to Nova Scotia in the American Hockey League, part of the Flames' farm system.

The move Thursday trims the National Hockey League team's roster to 21 players.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 19-year-old youth has pleaded innocent in Superior Court to charges in connection with an estimated $250,000 damage to scoreboard equipment at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

At the hearing Thursday, pre-trial motions were scheduled Dec. 11 for Charles Colbert, accused of destruction of telephone lines and malicious mischief.

Claws in trade mess

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association officials prepared to meet in New York today in an effort to straighten out a trade that sent Baltimore's Dan Issel to Denver and apparently raised the hackles of Claws' President David Cohan.

Cohan had told The Associated Press he had expected to get the rights to ailing rookie Marvin Webster from Denver in the deal, a provision which Denver General Manager Carl Scheer has denied.

And Guy LeBow, the voice of Sports Phone here, reported

Thursday that Cohan told him the situation had disturbed him enough to consider abandoning the Baltimore franchise. Cohan is one of 10 owners of the Claws.

"I think we're going to have to make a serious decision if we don't get what we want tomorrow," LeBow quoted Cohan as saying in an interview Thursday. "We have to have a representative team or we can't go through with it."

To my best impression, Marvin was included in the deal."

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please explain portal cirrhosis of the liver? Does it usually cause internal bleeding? Are there any early symptoms and could uncontrolled diabetes be a contributing factor along with some social drinking? A very dear friend, 65 years old, died of it and the resulting internal bleeding.

Because it is often fatal and requires emergency treatment, your readers should be warned about it.

DEAR READER — The term portal cirrhosis relates to the anatomic changes inside the liver that occur with the disease. Your liver is divided into numerous small lobes. You can see this separation under a microscope. Between the lobes are veins that belong to the portal circulation or branches of the portal vein.

Cirrhosis means scarring of the liver. The scarring in portal cirrhosis occurs around the small portal veins or outside the small liver lobules. As the scarring increases they separate the lobes, and the liver takes on a more lobular appearance. The scarring around the lobes causes the liver to contract eventually.

The scarring and compression also increases the pressure in the veins to the liver (portal circulation) and raise the pressure in these veins. This is called portal hypertension. The scarred tissue literally obstructs the flow of venous blood through the liver. This has the same effect you get in the arm when you constrict it. The veins in the arm pop out below the blood pressure cuff or the tourniquet used by a technician when drawing blood.

In portal cirrhosis the constriction causes the veins in the lower esophagus and upper stomach to pop out. These are called esophageal or gastric varices. They are literally varicose veins of that area. As they stretch too much from pressure they may break and hemorrhage into the lower esophagus or stomach.

The other way liver disease can cause bleeding from any source is by affecting the normal chemical process that enables blood to clot normally. Portal cirrhosis, also called Laennec's cirrhosis, is usually caused by chronic use of alcohol, malnutrition or as a complication of viral hepatitis. Yes, it can occur as a complication of diabetes. You can have other forms of cirrhosis of the
